

“Creating A Personal Paradise: The Story of Glen Villa”

Glen Villa is a 750-acre property in the eastern Townships of Quebec, Canada. Once attractive but conventional, this Webster family heirloom morphed into a popular garden destination that now reflects its unique story across time including its nomadic home of the Abenaki Native American tribe.

Patterson Webster invites us to join her and explore new ideas gleaned from her trips to gardens around the world to re-imagine your own garden’s story in your own creative way.

Be inspired by imaginative concepts in design. By studying and listening to her garden, Pat highlighted its history and best features and worked within its limitations. Discover how words and art installations mixed with a bit of humor designed this distinctive garden paradise.

Patterson Webster

A writer, artist, photographer and passionate gardener, she designed her acclaimed Glen Villa Art Garden in North Hatley, Quebec.

Her “Timelines” art installation embodies an idea expressed by T.S. Eliot in his poem “Little Gidding”:

“We shall not cease from exploration
And the end of all our exploring
Will be to arrive where we started
And know the place for the first time.”
